Anthroposophical Medicine

Germany, international directories, hospitals, practitioners, pharmacies and therapies

Please note: All anthroposophical doctors hold full conventional medical qualifications. Anthroposophic medicine is an extension of conventional medicine, never a replacement for it. See a fully qualified doctor for any serious health concern. Nothing listed here is an endorsement of an individual practitioner.

NAME	ABOUT	WEBSITE
GAÄD — Gesellschaft Anthroposophischer Ärzte in Deutschland	The German Society of Anthroposophical Doctors, founded in 1953. It is the main professional association for anthroposophic physicians in Germany and the German-speaking countries, and the only medical-scientific society for anthroposophic medicine in Germany. It runs a doctor finder and offers publications, research, continuing education for doctors, nurses and therapists, and the certification pathway for physicians. It publishes the journal Der Merkurstab. It is said to be the largest national anthroposophic medical association in the world.	gaed.de
Weleda AG — Schwäbisch Gmünd, Germany and Arlesheim, Switzerland	Founded in 1921 by Steiner and Wegman, around the same time as the first Waldorf school. The German headquarters is in Schwäbisch Gmünd and has a biodynamic medicinal plant garden. Weleda makes anthroposophic medicines and natural cosmetics, including Arnica massage oil, Calendula baby care, Birch Arnica bath milk and hundreds of medicinal preparations, using biodynamic ingredients. It has 26 companies worldwide and sells in more than 50 countries. Often called the world's leading maker of anthroposophic medicines.	weleda.de · weleda.com · @weleda_de
WALA Heilmittel GmbH — Bad Boll/Eckwälden	Founded in 1935 by Dr. Rudolf Hauschka. It makes Dr. Hauschka skin care and WALA medicinal preparations, and is the parent company of Dr. Hauschka. Its Demeter-certified biodynamic garden covers 12 hectares and grows over 250 medicinal plant varieties. Dr. Hauschka products are sold worldwide.	wala.de · dr.hauschka.com
ARCANA Arzneimittel — Munich	A smaller maker of anthroposophic medicines, one of several in Germany besides Weleda and WALA.	arcana.de
Witten/Herdecke University	Germany's first private university, started on the initiative of the anthroposophical movement. Its Faculty of Health includes the Department of Anthroposophic Medicine and integrative medicine research. It is recognised internationally for its approach to medical education.	uni-wh.de

Anthroposophic therapies

THERAPY	DESCRIPTION
Rhythmical Massage	Developed by Ita Wegman and Margarethe Hauschka. Rhythmic, wave-like strokes with plant-based oils. Works on breathing, warmth and the nervous system.
Oil Dispersion Baths	Warm baths with plant-based oils, used for the nervous system, skin conditions and warmth processes.
Eurythmy Therapy	A therapeutic movement art developed by Steiner. Specific sequences are used for specific conditions, working with speech sounds and musical tones.
Anthroposophic Painting Therapy	Healing work with watercolour. The process matters more than the result. Follows the approach of Liane Collot d'Herbois.
Music Therapy	Therapeutic sound work with Choroi instruments, using rhythm, tone and warmth.
Sculpture / Clay Therapy	Working with form and clay for self-discovery and healing.
Therapeutic Speech	Using voice and speech as a therapeutic tool. Anthroposophic speech formation.
Mistletoe Therapy	An add-on cancer therapy given as subcutaneous injections. In clinical use for over 100 years. A Phase I trial at Johns Hopkins has been completed. Makers are listed under pharmacies.
Compresses and External Applications	Plant-based treatments such as the onion ear compress, ginger kidney compress, mustard footbath, copper ointment and thyme chest compress.
Biographical Counselling	Working with a person's life story and illness related to it. biographicalcounsellors.org.uk
Anthroposophic Nursing	Holistic nursing that includes hydrotherapy, compresses and body oilings. IFAN trained.
Camphill Curative Education	An anthroposophic approach for people with developmental differences, using art, craft, farming and music in community.
